

AdduXi Inc. | 2791 Research Drive | Rochester Hills, MI 48309 USA
www.adduxi.com

Manufacturing Manager

The ADDUXI group, is an automotive supplier, employing more than 300 people over 3 continents. A family owned business founded in 1996, specializing in the transformation of plastic materials. Positioned on the development and production of technical components, for various markets the world over, predominantly serving the automotive sector. This dynamic company is growing with a presence in Europe, the USA and most recently in China.

Job Description :

Directing team of molding associates in areas of production, scheduling, safety, maintenance and quality while maintaining high level of accuracy; managing several lines/IMM, which integrate different technologies (pneumatic, electrical, automation, mechanical and hydraulic); reporting concerns to CEO and following up as requested; troubleshooting and adjusting molding parameters to maintain quality and maximum product output; developing corrective actions for customer issues/initiating continuous improvement; leading a team of people in execution of daily production tasks, scheduling, training, maintenance, and continuous improvement; coordinating tooling and equipment availability, repair, and maintenance; maintaining safe work environment; managing all maintenance functions, such as: preventive, corrective, and emergency maintenance on all manufacturing equipment; managing all aspects of production, including: product quality, production schedule, team performance, and safety; guiding multiple shifts of production teams; and interfacing with engineering, planning, procurement and other production plants. attaché(e) au Responsable xxxx, vous êtes notamment en charge des missions suivantes :

Requirements :

Bachelor's Degree in Plastics Transformation Technology, or Industrial Engineering, or foreign degree equivalent. 3 years of work experience as Product Engineer or Project Engineer. 3 years work experience must include work with silicone injection (seal and gaskets) and plastic injection (technical resins with filler, tool design and tuning, process optimization); and automation of manufacturing equipment.

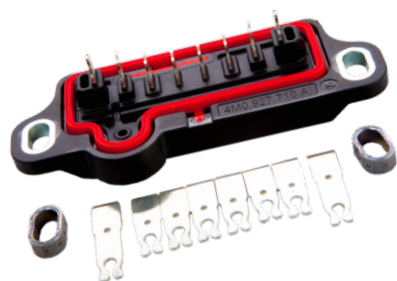

Type de contrat : CDI

Salary : Based on experience

Schedule : 40 hours/week

Location : Rochester Hills, Michigan USA

Start Date : To be negotiated

Interested in this position ?

Please mail your resume and cover letter to:

AdduXi Inc.
2791 Research Drive
Rochester Hills, MI 48309 USA